

monster_pod
Aspen Hill, Maryland

25 likes

monster_pod Caroline Namrow described it as a warm, lovely morning. She stopped to pump gas and within minutes, she hears a gunshot. The man pumping next to her collapses. Shaking and shocked, she calls 911: "A man has been killed in front of me." Go back to the moment the first shots were fired in Episode 1: A New Terror - Part 1. Link in our profile.

April 13, 2020

monster_pod
SCAD - Atlanta

33 likes

monster_pod We're taking you behind the podcast today, in a special BONUS episode with our interview from SCAD's Podcast Weekend. In light of new developments, we're researching Lee Boyd Malvo's recent case this week and the lasting implications it could have on hundreds of people.

Hear from some of the key players who make this podcast happen in today's episode. Link in our profile.

March 13, 2020

monster_pod
Nashville, Tennessee

66 likes

monster_pod Music has an unmistakable impact on storytelling. We are so grateful to @makeupandvanityset for their contribution to Monster: DC Sniper. The music heightened our experience, helping us feel the story in a way we couldn't have without it.

View all 3 comments

April 14, 2020

monster_pod

Greenville Correctional Center

18 likes

monster_pod John Allen Muhammad's approaching execution date brought a sense of justice and consolation to many. But investigators wondered if Muhammad would ever speak about his role in the crime spree. His attorney Jon Sheldon makes an announcement after Muhammad was pronounced dead at 9:11 PM on November 10, 2009. Did he take his chance to make a final statement? Listen to Episode 15: The Judgement. Link in our profile.

View 1 comment

April 17, 2020

monster_pod
Washington D. C.

306 views

monster_pod The season finale is out now! Time to binge the whole season of Monster: DC Sniper. Catch up on every shocking discovery in the investigation. Revisit the intense moments. Listen to Episodes 1–15 at the link in our profile.

April 9, 2020